

1

Initial Consultation

Cost:
$150
60 min

- 1 hour appointment
- The clinician talks to the participant to get a thorough understanding of their medical history, NDIS goals, and general questions about any other important factors.
- They will also complete tests that assess the participant's range, strength and function.
- Screening questions are asked to ensure the VR applications are suitable for the participant.
- The clinician will discuss how physiotherapy and VR works, and may introduce some exercises to start with.
- A telehealth appointment will be booked in between the initial consultation and the first VR session to assess how the participant responded to the prescribed exercises.

2

Telehealth Appointment

Cost:
$115
45 min

- Telehealth appointments may be booked between VR sessions to initially assess, or re-assess, relevant tests performed to monitor and record progress that has been made with the use of our technology.
- These appointments are important to ensure NDIS Review Reports are detailed, and support the use of a participant's funding while also supporting further funding decisions in regards to capacity building activities.

3

First VR Session

Cost:
$150
60 min

- 1 hour appointment
- The clinician will assist in the initial use of the applications chosen to benefit the patient's goals, orientate on how to use the headset, and perform application-based evaluations
- Following that, the clinician will see how the participant responds to the applications, and make changes to the settings accordingly.
- A plan of care is then created with the participant.

4

Ongoing/Follow Up Consultations

Cost:
$115
60 min

- 45 minute appointments
- The clinician will assess the participant's progress to date.
- VR evaluations are re-done every week in order to track progress through objective data measured in the applications.
- Based on the participant's progress, how they respond to the exercises and applications, and the results of the evaluations, settings will be continually adjusted to suit the participant.
- New applications and traditional exercises will be introduced and adjusted when suitable and/or necessary.

Report Writing is available at $150 per hour
